Program Description

The Sociology major engages students with theories, concepts, and ideas that will provide useful insights into the relationships between the social organization of group life and its subsequent impacts upon interaction patterns of individuals.

Completion of the program is designed to result in an Associate of Arts degree and meets the general-education requirements at all Idaho public universities. Course selection should be coordinated to meet requirements for your intended transfer institution (if known).

Sociology graduates often pursue careers in the following areas: research, teaching, social work, criminology, pre-law, clergy, advertising, and personnel management.
